This Robin Likes Bacon.

Close to the master's desk, in one of the new class rooms at Bradford college, a pair of robins have built their nest. The cock robin has excellently tame, and breakfasts every morning with the secretary of the college, Henry Money. It likes bacon better than anything else for breakfast.—London Times.

A Very Good Suggestion.

A Young Men's Christian association suggests that the man who should drink his wife buy a supply and retail the stuff to him. It adds: "Should you live ten years and continue to buy booze from her and then die with money enough to bury you decently, educate your children, buy a house and lot, marry a decent man and quit thinking about you entirely."

And a Bag One

Saved by Preventive Medicine.

One census report shows that preventive medicine and sanitation save one half million lives annually in the United States.

To Remove Wet Ink Stains.

Put with a piece of ripe tomato and then rinse well in cold water. Wash and soil, or put a little red ink on the mark and wash. The acid dissolves the iron in the ink and sets free the tanning or coloring matter which will boil out.

A Trying Ordeal.

"Colonel," asked the beautiful girl, "when was the most trying moment of your life?" "It was when I went to my wife's father for the purpose of asking him to let me have her. He was very deaf, and I had to explain the matter before twenty clerks!"—Answers.
